NEWS FROM THE PAST-Clark County Press March 1906-submitted by Linda Berres

Dr. J. Henry Frank, Physician and surgeon, has an office on the corner of Hewett and Fifth streets. He came to Neillsville in 1899, from Antigo, Wis., and has been in active practice since. The doctor is a Milwaukee man, grew up there, graduated from city schools and from the Wisconsin School of Physicians and Surgeons. With his family, he occupies the beautiful modern home on the North Side built by Gus Hosely, shortly before he left to become a citizen of Idaho. The doctor is popular socially and enjoys a - lucrative practice.

Sol. F. Jaseph is one of Neillsville's oldest residents, who has been in business in the city since 1871. He is a great nimrod, a sober and consistent devotee of Isaac Walton. Jaseph has done much for Neillsville, having built or improved many business and residential properties of the city. He built the brick store next door west of the express office, the C. R. Sturdevant residence, the North Side store building and many others. He was the first to have electric lights in the residence and the first to have a lawn on his residential lot in the city.

Clark County Press March 1956-submitted by Linda Berres

Valentine Krainz, Jr., of the Willard State Graded School, scored a perfect 1,000 points to win the county rural school grain judging contest, in Neillsville last week. He was the first contestant since 1948 to turn in a perfect score.

Members of the Longwood Lutheran Church held a farewell party for their pastor and Mrs. M. S. Egge and family on Sunday. Pastor Egge has accepted a call to the parish at Redwood Falls, Minn.

Ira Tanner of Oconomowoc has accepted a call to the pastorate of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Greenwood. Mr. Tanner is now attending a Seminary at St. Paul. He will graduate in May, will be ordained in Oconomowoc, and will take over his duties at Our Savior's Church in June. Mr. Tanner, a married man, will take the place of Rev. M. S. Egge, who recently accepted a call to the Lutheran Church at Redwood Falls, Minn.

WEBSITES OF THE MONTH-Ancestry.com has announced that they are about to produce a blog - to be edited by the current "Ancestry Daily News" editor, Juliana Smith. Ancestry Daily News will revert back to being a weekly.

Online Conversions-www.onlineconversion.com comes to the rescue. Old wills, great-grandmother's cookbooks and second-cousin Olaf's letters can all present the family historian with unfamiliar measurements. Here you'll find conversion calculators for virtually any kind of measurement you might need including areas, cooking measures, dates and times, finance, lengths and distances, speed, temperature, volumes and weights.

Bureau of Land Management General Land Office Records-www.glorerecords.blm.gov came back online in December 2005. This site allows you to search the records of the initial transfer of land titles from the American Federal Government to individuals in the Public Land States.
